

This contract (this "Agreement"), dated as of 2 - NOV, 1992, is between CCRMA, Stanford University ("University"), and Pinnacle Research, Inc., an Arizona corporation ("PRI").

David Jaffe is developing NeXTSTEP compatible program code ("Code") for PRI to perform SMPTE based time-code support based on the MusicKit framework.

David Jaffe has agreed to deliver the Code, relevant example programs and usage documentation in source (ASCII) form no later than Dec. 15 ("Delivery Date"), all submitted materials thereby becoming the property of PRI.

Assuming these transactions take place as agreed, PRI agrees to grant CCRMA an unlimited, worldwide license to redistribute the Code as part of the "MusicKit", such license beginning six months from the Delivery Date.

In return, CCRMA agrees to include the following information in all Code, documentation and examples provided by PRI under this contract:

©1992, 1993 Pinnacle Research, Inc. <contact info>
Donated for inclusion in the CCRMA MusicKit 1993
Created by: David Jaffe <contact info>

Either party may terminate this Agreement in the event of a breach of contract by the other party, such breach remaining uncorrected sixty days after written notice of the breach to the breaching party.

This contract shall be governed by the laws of the State of Arizona. If any part of this contract is deemed invalid, illegal or unenforceable, the validity legality and enforceability of the remaining portions will not be thusly affected.
