A SOCIAL MEDIA APPLICATION ENCOURAGING ACTUAL SOCIAL INTERACTION

Technology has decreased our desire for actual social interaction. It has allowed people to ignore their real social life and only interact with others online. It is time for change! Now, for the first time ever, an app has been created to help human connection in real life: REAL LIFE +. Not only does REAL LIFE + encourage real social interaction, but it makes it easier and understands who you are and what you want to do. So what does it actually do?!

REAL LIFE + uses social media as a technological medium to enhance your social life instead of take away from it!

How it works:

1. Go to the app store on your most used mobile device and download Real Life +.
2. The app first asks you your age, where you are from, where you currently live, where you go to school, or where you work to gather data about social events/places to go near you.
3. Then it asks you to rank social events to gain knowledge about your interests and personality.
  - a. Social events options are: sports games, concerts, parties, movies, restaurants/coffee shops/malls, libraries, night life (clubs), bars, traveling, etc.
4. You then allow REAL LIFE + to have access to one of your social media accounts or your phone contacts.
5. Small or large, the list of people you have given is now generated into the app. Then you, the user, classify each person into five groups of people based on your relationship with them.
  - a. Rank 1: Everyday person
  - b. Rank 2: Close friend
  - c. Rank 3: Want to know this person better
  - d. Rank 4: Someone you have met in your immediate area
  - e. Rank 5: Do not want interaction with this person yet
    - i. *NOTE* your information is private and no one knows how you rank them!
6. The app then gives you five groups and you can make changes whenever you want and move people around anywhere, anytime.
7. REAL LIFE + also allows you to sink any calendar app to see your availability. Also offers a calendar option within the app.
8. REAL LIFE + will now give you suggestions to improve your actual social life based on your rankings and availability.
