It is a time of change. In past years we have found that this policy lowers crime rates and overall makes citizens of the U.S. happier. We used to live in a country of hate and disgust but I as President for a second term am ready to fill that void with love and experiences. It's time to open your mind to the important things in life. World War 3 destroyed so much hope in humanity, but this policy is implemented to bring the U.S. back to a loving country. We no longer believe in fighting and death, we believe in diplomacy and love for life.
