FAQ

Who funds last hopes?

Last Hopes is fully funded by generous volunteers looking to sponsor ill individuals and their loved ones to provide them with memorable final experiences.

How is the funding typically used?

Sponsors must approve how their money is being spent in order to avoid individuals taking advantage of their generosity. The most common use of sponsorship is to fund chartered private planes, equipped with necessary medical equipment and medical staff, as flying commercially is typically a large obstacle to terminally ill individuals. Other examples include trips to costly and sought after travel locations,

What work do I have to do post profile creation?

After creating your profile, consisting of documentation of your illness, hopes and desires for your last hopes experience, and any other information you want to include, let Last Hopes do the rest!

Working very similarly to popular dating apps, we will facilitate profile matching in a two part system, beginning with an initial algorithm that is then checked over by trained professionals. Last

Hopes also handles reaching out to the donor, and initial communication. We will also handle all logistical aspects of your

Last Hopes funded experiences, including organizing travel itineraries to encourage focusing on enjoying the moment! Let the hope really sink in.

How does the interface work?

By taking into account both the desires of the ill individual and the donor's preferences (willingness to spend, personal ties to specific illnesses, etc.), the algorithm works to produce statistically-backed matches. These choices are verified by trained professionals who are familiar with what successful pairings look like!

Why are donors motivated to sponsor?

Donors are motivated to sponsor due to a variety of reasons! Some have personal ties to certain illnesses and feel as though they are paying others' generosity forward, some are looking for positive ways to share their wealth, and some have loved ones who have been involved with Last Hopes themselves!

Can I be sponsored more than once?

Depending on your relationship with your donor, some might choose to sponsor multiple less expensive experiences or one more expensive experience! Last Hopes only guarantees one match (and therefore guaranteed experience) between sponsor and sponsored, and the amount of generosity and donations granted by the donor's comfort level. One can apply to be rematched if there is an issue present, but this is not guaranteed.
