Matchmaker for meaningful friendships

Problem

75% of Americans are unsatisfied with their current friendships. The NIH calls loneliness an epidemic.

This is a problem that has been drastically accelerated by COVID-19. But real, meaningful friendships are still hard to find – especially online.

Introducing Pairology

Existing platforms optimize for time spent swiping on the app. Pairology is a matchmaking app designed to promote meaningful in-person interactions.

With Pairology, users fill out a quiz that gives us a strong sense of their personality profile. After that, users can opt in every week to get matched with someone who is likely to be highly compatible with them.
