

CC

COMM COMM

Not just wearable tech, but

A KEY TO THE WORLD

The Community Communicator allows users to automatically translate both what they're hearing and saying into any language, eliminating the language barrier for all and opening the entire world for conversation.

SPEAK

Talk with locals about the best bakery in town, ask your grandma about tamale folding tips, strike up a conversation with that cute barista

LISTEN

Seamlessly hear others' thoughts, ideas, and perspectives

LEARN

Learn about the world by immersing yourself directly in it

MEANINGFUL CONVERSATIONS AND COMMUNITY CONNECTIONS IN MANY FORMS

- Talk with foreign relatives
- Learn about family history & culture
- Learn from worldwide perspectives
- Advocate for equal rights
- Become a global citizen

WHAT WILL YOU FIND?

- Connection to culture?
- New friends?
- A new view of the world?
- Fulfillment?
- Love?

CC

HOW DOES IT WORK?

PUT IT ON

The wearable device blends in with your personal style and allows for ease of use. Simply put your CommComm on and sensors on the device will detect that the device is being used (similar to AirPods).

JUST TALK

Speak normally and CommComm will automatically transmit an accurate translation of your words. When others speak to you, it will translate their words into your ears.

THAT'S IT

CommComm is designed for seamless integration into your life, so if it seems too easy, you're doing it right! All that's left to do is to go make connections with people around the world :)

CC

OUR STORY

In a world full of so many different cultures, thoughts, and ideas, we should share them with one another. However, one of the main things stopping us from doing so is language barriers. Thus, many people miss out on meaningful conversations due to a lack of ways to communicate effectively to those who speak another language without worrying about losing the meaning of our words.

So, we created CommComm, a wearable device that allows for the seamless automatic translation of language, connecting the world and lowering barriers between cultures in ways like never before.

CommComm opens the door for people to build relationships and find communities (thus the name Comm[unity]Comm[unicator]) that they would have never been able to.

We also believe that people who have a broad view of the world will take into consideration many different perspectives and situations as they go about life. This broad knowledge allows them to design (their words, their personal philosophy, their goals) as an informed human with an understanding of the world, communities, and people around them. Our wearable device can help connect people to otherwise inaccessible opportunities, like learning from experts in the field from a foreign university, talking with family members who don't share a language, and working on a team with people across the world. Lastly, CommComm allows people to immerse themselves in their own or another culture, stimulating a world that celebrates the rich creativity and history that we as humans have created.

With the key to the world, what will you unlock?